
A cartoon illustration of a person with brown hair and glasses, wearing a yellow shirt and brown pants, standing at a blue photocopier. The person is looking down at the machine. The background is a simple yellow circle.

You meet your colleague at the photocopier. He says, “I didn’t get time to make my lunch last night and now I have no food for today. And plus, now, I have to do lunch duty. This is just so annoying! Why do things like this always happen to me?”

How would you respond?

You meet your colleague at the photocopier. He says, "I didn't get time to make my lunch last night and now I have no food for today. And plus, now, I have to do lunch duty. This is just so annoying! Why do things like this always happen to me?"

How would you respond?

